(BY ASSOCIATED PRISS WIRE.)

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—H. H.

Holmes, who will die tomorrow morning, to pay the penalty for his many crimes, passed his last day on earth uneventfully. After the murderer had finished a light breakfast this morning, Father Daily visited him and remained more than an hour, preparing him for the end. In the afternoon the londemned man received a visit from his attorney, and it is said a will was frawn up. The balance of the day Holmes spent in reading devotional books and taking short naps.

According to Father Daily. Holmes is fully prepared for his fate, and is sincere in his repentance. At noon to-day everything was in readiness for the execution, which will occur shortly after 10 oclock. There will be but sixty persons present, including twelve jurymen, twenty-five deputies and twenty-two newspapar men.

Mr. Olney received the following note from the Ambassador, dated Lenox, Mass., October 1, last:

Mr. Secretary of State: I have the honor to respectfully acknowledge the receipt of your note, No. 42, which is in regard to the case of the American citizen. Louis Stern, at Kissingen. In reply to the views contained in your note, I hasten to state that I reject, as entirely unjustified, Your Excelliency's criticisms of the justice in the Stern case at Kissingen. Especially must I decline to see the administration of justice within a State of the German federal union, and the right of pardon which belongs to the Princes of German federal union, discussed in this way and treated in the form of a diplomatic claim. So far as the United States government desires to approach the government of His Majesty, the German Emperor, in this matter, touching one of its citizens, it must be left to it (United States government) to make such approach through the United States ambassador at Berlin. Said Secretary Olney in reply: "It ronly remains to notice the suggestion, expressed with quite unnecessary curtness, that a diplomatic claim was involved, which, therefore, should have been presented to the imperial government of Germany through the United States Ambassador at Berlin. This proposition will not bear examination unless, indeed, as is wholly improbable, the powers of the representative of the government at this capital are subject to unknown limitations."

The River and Harbor Bill was then taken up. All amendments were agreed to, until the item for a deep-water harbor in Santa Monica Bay, California, was reached, which went over on the request of Senator White, in view of a sharp contest, which is expected.

At 2 o'clock the bill was laid aside, and the bond resolution was taken up, Semator Hill taking the floor to continue his speech. Senator Peffer attempted to have a time fixed for a vote, but Senator Hill again declined to consent.

tempted to have a time fixed for a vote, but Senator Hill again declined to consent.

"Then," said Senator Peffer, "I give notice that objection will be made to every other proceeding of the Senate until a vote is reached on this resolution, and also that Senators will be asked to remain until a vote is had."

"The course mapped out by the Senator from Kansas," answered Senator Hill, smilingly, "will not inconvenience me. It will only inconvenience other Senators who desire to transact public business."

Senator Hill, taking up the thread of his speech, said he welcomed into the debate Senator Pettigrew, who spoke yesterday. As Senator Pettigrew had read with approval extracts from New York newspapers, Senator Hill read, amid great laughter, the response Senator Pettigrew had made recently at Sloux Fall, S. D., by Senator Pettigrew, who had gone home, said he, to influence the primaries. Senator Hill's running comments on the Pettigrew speech kept the Senate in laughter. This was supplemented by Senator Hill's reading of the South Dakota newspaper reports of the State convention, when, as the representatives stated, "Pettigrew was turned down."

"He met his Waterloo," said Senator Hill.

that he had humiliated "himself, agreeing to give up his silver views in order to get at the foot of the delegation to the national convention."
At this point Senator Wolcott, who sat beside Senator Pettigrew, arose and made a point of order against the further reading of these extracts.

"It is contrary to every claim of decency and good taste," declared Senator Wolcott hotly, "to read an irresponsible newspaper article personally slandering a member of this body. If it must be read, let the Senator read it himself."

"In answer to the unnecessary and entirely unbecoming statement of the Senator from Colorado," responded Senator Hill, addressing Senator Wolcott, "let me tell him that on yesterday the Senator from South Dakota (Pettigrew) read a newspaper article bitterly slanderous and abusive of the President of the United States and the Secretary of the Treasury. And can such articles be read without retaliation in kind?" Senator Hill took the article from the clerk and proceeded without further objection from Senator Wolcott.

from the cierk and proceeded without further objection from Senator Wolcott.

Senator Hill asked where "this sensitive Senator" (Mr. Wolcott) was yesterday when Senator Pettigrew was "hurling coarse epithets" against Senator Sherman. Where was "this defender of decency" when Senator Pettigrew declared that the bond transactions were for the gain of "President's favorites, if not for the President himself?"

Senator Hill paused a moment and then exclaimed: "And where was my friend—my English friend from Colorado—who has tributes for English statesmen, English soldiers, English policles and everything English, but not one word for an American policy or a United States citizen."

The ringing tones of Senator Hill and the direction of his utterances created a noticeable stir in the galleries. Senator Wolcott had left the chamber a moment before. The remark of Senator Hill was recognized as referring to Senator Wolcott's speech made during the Monroe doctrine debate.

He went on to refer to the way Senadeclaring that the government had sold its bonds to "Jews." Had it come to this, asked Senator Hill, that the nationality of a citizen was to be hissed in the Senate? "A Jewish citizen is as good as any other citizen," said he. The Senator paid a glowing tribute to the Jewish race, mentioning Disraeli, Baron Hirsch, and other conspicuous representatives of the race.

"Let these Senators who hiss out the word 'Jew' consult their Jewish constituents," said Senator Hill, suggestively.

Senator Wolcott reëntered the chamber at this point, showing evidence of much feeling, and went to the desk of the official stenographer where he had read to him the remarks made by Senator Hill, as to "my English friend."

Senator Hill went on to read a telegram sent by Morgan, Morton & Seligman, from London to President Hayes during a bond transaction in 1877.

"Note the name 'Morton.' This is the name of the distinguished Governor of New York, and a candidate for the Republican nomination for President. If the lightning should strike the distinguished Governor, for whom personally I have the greatest respect, I propose to read this telegram from Morgan, Morton & Seligman, as to paying bonds in gold. It may shed some light on the ticket—Morgan, Morton, Seligman and victory."

At 4 o'clock Senator Hill yielded to Senator Call, who spoke in favor of the bond investigation.

Senator Gordon of Georgia spoke in favor of his amendment, that the bond inquiry be conducted by the Finance Committee. The motion was lost by 17 to 35, as follows: YEAS.

Senator Vilas argued that the first paragraph directed general investigation of the issue of bonds since 1894, so that it was needless to direct the particular branches of investigation.

Senator Vest of Missouri, a member of the Finance Committee, said, in reply to a remark by Senator Peffer as to the "inertness" of the Finance Committee, that there would be no inertness of the committee if this resolution was adopted, the resolution would be taken as instructions to go to the bottom of the whole matter. Senator Vilas's amendment, proposing modifications, was defeated by an unusually heavy vote; yeas 7, mays 34. Those who voted for the amendment were Senators Brice, Faulkner, Gordon, Gray, Hill, Palmer and Vilas.

Senator Vilas moved an executive session, and Senator Vest moved an adjournment, but these motions were withdrawn when unanimous consent was given to proceeding with Senator Hill's speech tomorrow, and then taking the final vote.

Senator Hill resumed, but it soon became evident that the Senate would be without a quorum an hour later, when the vote was to be taken.

Senator Harl's of Tennessee proposed that Senator Hill have an hour tomorrow, with a final vote at 4 o'clock. There was unanimous agreement to this, and at 6 o'clock, after a short executive session, the Senate adjourned.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) SACRAMENTO, May 6 .- (Special Dispatch.) The expected has happened. California is lined up in the McKinley column, its delegates to the nationa convention go to St. Louis under castiron orders to vote for the apostle of protection for the nomination to the Presidency of the nation, and John Dough Spreckels, who swore he ne'er consent, consented. ing the appointed delegates from Sacr mento, and unseating those elected at the primaries—a straddle probably without precedent in the history of any previous convention held on the American continent. The Joe Spear delegation was also turned out into the cold world, and the Spreckels delegation taken into the fold and awarded the fatness of the land and the fullnes thereof. But Alameda's appointed delegates were not turned down without a stalwart protest from Taylor of that delegation. He made a spirited stand against the proposed action, and showed with force and logic the injustice of the Credentials Committee's ruling. With a voice shaking with emotion he "Consistency, where is thy asked: jewelry?" but the house only laughed the orator to scorn.

Mr. Taylor's efforts were put forward oward having the committee's report taken up seriatim, but he was to a body in haste to conclude its la bors, and flee from the wind-swept streets of Sacramento, and hence he failed. Col. Kowalsky entered the lists and howled about the carnet-baggers from the south, who were running things, but was ruled out of order. The unseated delegations were peremptorily ordered to pack up their doll rags and and showing their teeth.

In the midst of the doorward movement, Thomas J. O'Brien of the Spear-Mahoney delegation mounted a chair in the rear of the hall and howled defiance at his opponents. In a voice like a bull, and with his face flaming with passion, he asserted that the convention was a disgrace to the name of George can Constitution, a disgrace to the Re-'By God, you are nothing but a d-A.P.A. council."

Mr. O'Brien was mad all the way through and half-way back, but, had the Spreckels crowd been turned down, no doubt some other fiery orator would have used quite as picturesque language as did the irate statesman with the Hibernian name. the Hibernian name, a name would hardly seem to warrant one in assuming him to be a member of the order he so feelingly roasted. During this incident there was great confusion, but Chairman Arthur's gavel was equal to the emergency, and quiet was soon

The report of the Committee on Cre dentials was adopted, and Mr. Coombi of Napa proceeded to read the platform. With characteristic American gallantry lovely woman was given the right of the line. The woman's suffrage plank held that position, and its reading caused Anna B. Shaw to burst a pair of gloves, and made Aunt Susan Anthony's face light up like a sunburst on the water. The immigration plank and the references to the government nonsupport of sectarian schools were wildly applauded.

At the conclusion of the reading, Frank Short of Fresno proceeded with the introduction of his anti-funding bill resolution as an amendment to the platform to undo all the hard work done by Steve Gage in the interest of "Uncle Collis," and to rattle the pro-gramme like a week's washing in a gale of wind. Mr. Short's resolution was adrottly worded, advanced with discretion, and adopted with such a rush that the railroad contingent was to catch its breath. It was a good deal of a surprise party to some of the people on the floor, as well as to a few, at least, in the lobby, and it is quite likely somebody or bodies will have several unhappy quarters of hours in explaining how it came to get trying to make out that it isn't much of a show of an anti-funding resolution, no how, but they will have hard work ernment to build him a harbor in the open sea at Santa Monica to that effect. That the resolution will be a good thing for the Republican party in the coming compaign in California, everybody hereabouts agrees, except Stephen T. Gage, who, when spoken to about it this afterpoon, remarked that the wheat along about Davisville was looking fine this spring, which indicates that Mr. Gage is sawing wood.

George A. Knight, who is a red-hot

McKinley man, was not satisfied with rather mealy-mouthed indorsement of the Ohio statesman which was recommended by the platform, so he brought forward a substitute and supported it with one of his old-time ringention. He pounded his resolution home to the hearts of his hearers, and flung a shart at the California delegation to the Minneapolis convention which, he asserted, "thrust a rusty blade into the heart of James G. Blaine." Much to every one's surprise, Preston of San Mateo supported Knight's resolution, a play no doubt for the Governorship, which he greatly covets. Judge Spen-cer of Lassen resented Mr. Knight's al-lusions to rusty blades, but the convenlusions to rusty blades, but the conven-tion did not heed him, and the substi-tute was adopted with a roar of ayes which fluttered the canopled colors

Cutter of Yuba reached a free-handed Cutter's talk was in vain. The platform was adopted, woman suffrage, Lu-bin's extract of protection for farmers, good roads, dairy products and the whole shooting match. Nominations for delegates-at-large being in order, Judge Irving B. Dudley of San Diego mounted the restrum to start Ulysses S, Grant, Jr., on his way to victory. It was a conventional convention speech, but Gen. Barnes was behind the son of his father, and he made, in his few spiendid sentences in favor of the scion of the factor contains avor of the scion of the great captain, the speech of the convention. Gen. the speech of the convention. Gen-Barnes is a great orator, one who em-bellishes every theme he talks upon, and it may be set down to his credit that he clinched Grant's election. Simpson of Pasadena nominated Sheldon; Judge Spencer nominated

Spreckels; McQuarie of San Joaquin nominated James A. Louttit; Jones of Sacramento nominated George Knight; Cutter of Yuba nominated some other Knight of the same county, and Martin J. Stevens nominated Irving M. Scott, but not one of the speeches contained meat enough to feed a canary bird, yet they served their purpose, ups as well as meatier efforts, seconding speeches were no bet-At this juncture a receiss was necessary by changes in the roll of delegates. Fear was expressed that this was a scheme to defeat Grant, but

At 2:30 o'clock the convention was again called to order, amid the patter of rain on the roof. The balloting for delegates-at-large resulted in the selec-tion of Grant, Knight, Spreekels and Sheldon. As soon as the vote was announced there were loud cries for Knight, to which that orator of the fluent tongue responded in a, telling fashion. Mr. Spreckels was called up to partake of his feed of crow, and he guiped it down, "innards." feathers and gulped it down, "innards." feathers and all. Sheldon was called for, but failed to appear. The chairman, in response, to calls for Grant, read from the interview with that gentleman in The Times of yesterday, his sentiments regarding McKinley, and the situation, hich were heartly applauded.

The defeated candidates for delegates-at-large, Gleaves, Louttit, D. E. Knight and Col. Stone, president of the Union League Club of San Francisco, were elected as alternates, the latter being substituted for Irving M. Scott, who was later made Presidential elector-at-large along with Col. Charles F. Crocker. How Col. Crocker will manage to stand on a Crocker will manage to stand on a platform with an anti-funding plank in it remains to be seen. Judge Spencer nominated John C. Lynch of San Bernardino for Lleutenant-Governor, and he was elected by acclamation, the deliberations being brought to a wind-up with selections of the Republican State Central Committee from the various untles.

The convention has accomplished The convention has accomplished great things. It has instructed for William McKinley, it has elected Ulysses S. THE WORK DONE.

SACRAMENTO, May 6.—The McKinley enthusiasts completely captured the Republican State Convention today, although the district delegates elected out the Fourth Congress District were impleded and are avowedly Allison supporters. The Fifth District deletion will probably be of the same notical complexion, but the other fourare bound to McKinley by the congress alledges that could be framed.

After culorizing the "American proley," the Platform Committee submitted the following plank:

"A delegation to the national convention is charged with a public trust, with the execution of a public mandate. William McKinley of Ohio is the choice of the people of the State of California for the nomination for President of the United States. Therefore, we indorse him for such nomination, and our delegates are hereby instructed to vote for him and to use their best efforts to procure his nomination."

George A. Knight of San Francisco charged that the McKinley plank in the platform was not strong enough, and offered the following substitute, which was adopted amid enthusiastic cheering:

offered the following substitute, which was adopted amid enthusiastic cheering:

"Resolved, that the Republicans of California, white recognizing the earnest worth and fitness of each of the distinguished statesmen of their party whose names have been mentioned as aspirants for the Presidential nomination at St. Louis, and while pledging in advance the electoral vote of the Golden State to the Republican nominee, whoever he may be, hereby declare that the emphatic sentiment of California is for the nomination of that wise and able statesman, that pure and unsullied patriot, that true and loyal American, that peerless champion of protection, William McKinley of America, and the delegates from this State are hereby directed and instructed to work and vote for the success of the said William McKinley as long as there is a reasonable prospect of his nomination."

The following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"We commend the course of our delegates in Congress in opposing the proposed.

unanimously:

"We commend the course of our delegates in Congress in opposing the proposed funding schemes of the Pacific Railroad companies, and urge that the latter be compelled to settle their indebtedness in some reasonable and business-like way, or that the government shall foreclose its liens upon and take possession of the properties."

The convention came out squarely for silver in the following declaration, which was enthusiastically adopted:

"We favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and the making of silver as well as gold a legal tender in payment of all debts, both public and private."

The following was the convention's position regarding public schools:

"We heartily recognize the right to establish schools through private enterprise, but we demand that none but non-sectarian free public schools shall receive public aid."

The convention chose delegates at large on the first ballot. The following non-sectarian free public schools shall receive public aid."

The convention chose delegates-atlarge on the first ballot. The following was the vote: John D. Spreckels, 564; George A. Knight, 490, both of San Francisco; U. S. Grant, Jr., of San Dlego, 481; L. A. Sheldon of Los Angeles, 398; J. M. Gleaves of Shasta, 210, J. A. Loutiti of Stockton, 117. The first four were elected. Alternates were elected as follows: D. E. Knight of Marysville, Gleaves, Loutiti and George Stone of San Francisco. C. F. Crocker and Irving M. Scott were nominated for Presidential electors-at-large, and John T. Lynch of San Bernardino was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor.

John D. Spreckels then took the platform and said: "I know what instructions have been given to the delegates, and I will carry out the wishes of the people of California."

The convention then adjourned sine the a P. A. Although pat obtavely.

The convention then adjourned sine ide.

The A.P.A., although not obtrusively conspicuous, played an important part in the convention. The strength of the order was shown in the ballot for delegates-at-large, when the solid A.P.A. vote went for Gleaves, who received 210 votes. He was not on the slate, howover, and other combinations beat him out. Up to noon it was thought that the ticket would be Sheldon, Spreckels, Gleaves and Knight, but just before adjournment for the moon recess, word was passed around that Gleaves was to be sacrificed instead of Grant. Gen. W. H. L. Barnes made un eloquent speech in favor of the great general's son and namesake, and clinched Grant's hold on the nonlinehed Grant's hold on the nonlinehous of the part of a few unruly ones to break away, but they were hopelessly in the minority, and soon gave up.

The Southern California delegates taught their northern brethren a lesson. They came up organized and united upon every proposition, and were able to take command from the start. The delegates from the northern counties, on the contrary, were working at cross-purposes, and were unable to get together and concentrate their strength during the convention. As a result the South secured the chairmanship and two of the delegates-atlarge, the other two going to San Francisco. The northern and middle sections were left out. When the balloting commenced the northern counties first on the list went for the minor condidates. When Los Angeles was reached the truth came out. Sixtythree solid votes for three of the successful candidates, and 54 for Knight, the fourth, was an indication of the way in which things were going. The rest of the South followed Los Angeles's lead, and when San Francisco was reached its big vote settled the questions and when San Francisco.

way in which things were going. The rest of the South followed Los Angeles's lead, and when San Francisco was reached its big vote settled the question beyond all doubt.

The San Francisco vote was: Sheldon Ill, Spreckels 110, Grant 94, George Knight 79, Loutiti 3; Gleaves 15; D. R. Knight, 1, Scott 41. The votes of some of the other counties were: San Joaquin, Sheldon 5, Spreckels 15, Loutiti 15, D. R. Knight 10, Scott 15; Fresno, Sheldon 9, Spreckels 9, Grant 12, George Knight 8, Loutiti 1, Gleaves 13. Santa Barbara went nine solid for the four winners, and San Diego did the same, with its votes. Humboldt, gave Sheldon 11, Spreckels 11, Grant 2, George Knight 11, Gleaves 9, D. R. Knight 3, Scott 1. Nevada went: Sheldon 9, Spreckels 2, George Knight 9, Loutiti 5, Gleaves 4, D. R. Knight 9, Scott 1.

Scott 1.

No ballots were necessary for the other candidates to be nominated. A motion was adopted that the State Central Committee ratify the nominations of Presidential electors in the different districts, and fill all vacancies. The members of the new State Central Committee were named, the convention adjourned and the delegates went home.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. SACRAMENTO, May 6.-The State Republican Convention assembled at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The Com-

Republican Convention assembled at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The Committee on Organization reported, making the temporary officers permanent. The report also recommends the nomination of Presidential electors, and also the nomination of a Lieutenamt-Governor. An attempt to consider the report seriatim failed, and the report was adopted.

The Committee on Credentials reported next. The Alameda county primary delegates were seated; the Sacramento county regularly-appointed delegates were seated; the Spreckels delegates from San Francisco were seated; the Forty-first Assembly District primary delegates were seated, and in the Thirty-second District the primary delegation was seated. The Thirty-third District delegation was thrown out completely on account of fraud, and will have no representation in the convention. The committee decided that the proxies used by the Spear committee in San Francisco to call the primaries were forgeries, and therefore the meeting was illegal.

Another portion of the Credentials Committee's report was the recommendation that primaries be held hereafter, instead of the appointment of delegates by county or Congress committees.

lost by 477 to 99. Taylor of Alameda, representing the unseated delegates, from that county, was given the floor, and made a speech protesting against the report. The previous question was demanded, and the report of the committee was declared adopted.

Kowalski of San Francisco was recognized, and spoke in favor of the Spear delegation. He talked about a gagged convention, and, pointing to the Southern California delegation, said he did not want to see a lot of carpetbaggers come here and run things. He denounced the Credentials Committee as unfair. He was becoming more and more vitriolite in his words, when he was not a delegate. This settled the question, and the San Francisco because he was not a delegate. This settled the question, and the San Francisco Spreckels delegation marched to their seats amid cheers.

O'Brien of San Francisco, one of the Stockton, George A. Knight's aubstitute was adopted with in the platform. He stated that while he would vote for the document he would not further probably vote against an amendment extending the interests the women of the State alone, and I haye a very poor opinion of a man who sets aside the wishes of a Spreckels delegation marched to their seats amid cheers.

O'Brien of San Francisco, one of the unseated delegates, jumped on the chair and called the convention an "A.P.A. council." The Spear delegates filed sadly from the hall, and the one big fight of the convention was over. A recess was then taken to await the report of the Committee on Platform.

THE PLATFORM.

THE PLATFORM. THE PLATFORM.

Following is the platform in full:
The Republican party of the State of California, in convention assembled at Sacramento, on the 5th day of May, 1896, hereby adopt the following platform:
Resolved, that this convention favors the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of California whereby it is sought to extend the elective franchise to all citizens of the United States, both men and women; that we indorse the course of Hon. George C. Perkins in the United States Senate in behalf of the people of the State of California and their varied interests. We indorse the work of the National League and the efforts of the young men of our party to make it a and their varied interests. We informed work of the National League and the efforts of the young men of our party to make it a potent factor in prosecuting a vigorous and successful campaign in this State.

SILVER.

We favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 18 to 1, and the making of silver, as well as gold, a legal-tender in payment of all debts, both public and private.

GOOD BOADS

Realizing that good roads are a necessary eiement in advancing-the prosperity of any community, and recognizing the practically universal demand for the same, not only in our State, but throughout the United States, the Republican party of California piedges ittel to the enactment of legislation looking toward improved and scientifically-constructed highways on the most economical basis.

IMMIGRATION.

We demand such national legislation on the subject of foreign immigration as effectually to keep out of the country all contract laborers, criminals, paupers, diseased persons and the classes whose presence and teachings are calculated to disturb social peace and order or are inimical to the best interests of this country, and such changes in the naturalization laws and enforcement as will prevent unit foreign-born persons from becoming citizens of this republic. Our prisons and asylument of this republic. Our prisons and asylument on the properties of the United States. We believe that every nation should care and pr.-c for its own demonied and criminal class, and that all future treaties and conventions with other nations should provide for such a rectprocal deportation of such classes as would in time make each unition care and provide for its own, and at its own expense of deportation of such classes as would in time make each unition care and provide for its own, and at its own expense of deportation to such classes as would in time make each unition care and provide for its own, and at its own expense of deportation of such classes as would in time make each unition care and provide for its own, and at its own expense of deportation of such classes as would in time make each unition care and provide for its own, and at its own expense of deportation of such classes as would in time make each unition care and provide for its own, and at its own expense of deportation of such classes as would in time make each unition care and provide for its own, and at its own expense of deportation of such classes as would GOVERNMENT AID TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

mand that none but non-sectarian free public schools shall receive public aid. We hartily recognize the right to establish schools.

BOUNTY FOR FARMERS.

We heartily indorse the proposition that the farmer of the nation, by whose labor the staple agricultural products of the country free brought to market, should receive a just measure of protection for himself, his labor and his products in regulated in the product of these products, insamuch as the primary of these products in regulated in market centers, lead to the products in regulated in market centers, lead to the products in the price of the products in many of the chasper and as owing to the great development of, staple agricultural products in many of the chasper labor countries of the world. The prices realized by our farmers have of lately been unremuneralized. It is our duty to endeavor to change this state of affairs, hence we approve of this plank that the government of the United States should reduce the cost of transportation on these agricultural products from American seaports to foreign seaports, to the end that the prices of these products should be advanced, and for that purpose, insamuch as an export can be protected in no other manner, we pronounce ourselves in favor of the use of a limited portion of the receipts of the United States customs for such purposes and pledge our most earnest efforts to have, this measure engrafted upon the laws of the land, to the end that the American protective system shall benefit all classes of the people, aid the farmers against the oppressive competition of the cheap-labor countries of the world, and, by so doing, assist in maintaining that steady demand for labor in the manufacturing centers ag essential to the labor of our country.

CALIFORNIA INTERESTS.

The Republican party of California is pledged to such legislation as will thoroughly protect the dairy interests and the bublic from imposition in the sale of dairy products. The mines of California, with their annual output of many millions of dollars, have been our financial bulwark in times of adversity they meintained the national credit during the dark days of the rebellion, and they form the basis upon which this grandest of commonwealth, California, has been reared. The mining industry of our State should receive such aid and protection as will insure its permanence and prosperity, and for that purpose we favor such aid and protection as will relieve the miner from unnecessary burdens, manence and prospecity, and for that purpose we favor such aid and protection as will relieve the miner from unnecessary burdens, enable him to obtain and develop his mining property, and will promote and encourage the business of all kinds of mining, including that now known as "hydraulic mining," whenever and wherever the same can be carried on without injury to the other interests of the State.

THE TARIFF.

We believe a revision of the tariff laws upon the basis of the American protective system to be the foremost of national legislation, and have full confidence in the national convention soon to convene to deal more fully with this question. We condemit the policy of the Democratic party for the last four years, resulting, as it has, in destroying every barrier to American protection, and charge that policy with the responsibility of degrading labor and impoverishing every interest dear to the American people. We believe that we should live under the banner calculated to give us the most protection in weakness and in strength, which exalts life and promotes human happiness, and that such system rests upon the basis of American protective tariff, advocated by James G. Blaine and William McKinley.

INSTRUCTING FOR McKINLEY.

INSTRUCTING FOR MCKINLEY. INSTRUCTING FOR MCKINLEY.

A delegate to the national convention is charged with a public trust, with the execution of the public mandate. William McKinley of Ohlo is the choice of the people of the State of California for the nomination for President of the United States. Therefore we indorse him for such nomination, and our delegates are hereby instructed to vote for him and to use their best endeavors to procure his nomination.

AGAINST THE FUNDING BILL.
Short of Freeno offered an amendment, which was adopted by a viva voce vote. It was as follows:
"We commend the course of the delegates in Congress is opposing the proposed funding scheme of the Pacific Railroad companies, and we believe that they should be compelled to settle their indebtedness in some reasonable and business-like way, or that the government shall foreclose its liens upon and take possession of the properties."
George A. Knight of San Francisco made a strong speech concerning the McKinley plank, saying that, at the Minneapolis convention, California's delegation voted against Blaine and in favor of Harrison. He closed by offering the following substitute.

"Resolved, that the Republicans of California, while recognizing the earnest worth and fitness of each of the distinguished statesmen of their party, whose names have been mentioned as aspirants for the Presidential nomination at St. Louis and while pledging in advance the electoral vote of the Golden State to the Republican nominee, whoever he may be, hereby declare that the membrane of the Republicans outside of this found of the twice and able statesman, that honored and unsuilide patriot, that true and loyal American, that peerless champion of protection, William McKinley of America, and the delegates from this State are hereby directed and instructed to work and vote for the success of said William McKinley as long as there is a divided to a set of the recognization content to prove the many hand of the wind advance his interest. The platform was adopted with the a tirunding-bill resolution and Knight's amendment.

The following were nominated for delegates at large: U. S. Grant, Jr., of San Diego, L. A. Sheldon of Los Angeles, J. M. Gleaves of Shasta, John D. Spreckeis of San Francisco, J. A. Louttit of Stockton, George A. Knight and Irving M. Scott of San Francisco, and D. E. Knight of Marysville. The convention then adjourned until 2 o'clock.

The convention reassembled at 2:40 o'clock.

The convention reassembled at 2:40 o'clock.

The convention reassembled at 1:40 o'clock. The secretary called the roll. Alameda started off with a disagreement, and the roll for the delegation had to be called. Alameda's vote resulted as follows: Orant. 41; Sheldon, 41; Spreckels. 46; Loutitt, 2; Gleaves, 37; George A. Knight, 24; Scott, 1; D. E. Knight, 5.

The call then went on smoothly without an indication of a break until Los Angeles was reached, when the delegation anounced the following vote: Sheldon, 378; Grant, 62; Spreckels, 63; George Knight, 54; Gleaves, 9.

The ballot of the convention resulted: Sheldon, 378; Spreckels, 564; Grant, 481; George Knight, 499; Loutitt, 117, and Gleaves, 210; necessary to a choice, 318.

C. F. Crooker and Irving M. Scott were nominated for Presidential electors at large by acclamation. John T. Lynch was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor in the same manner, and after the announcement of the names of members of the State Central Committee, the convention adjourned sine die.

SAN DIEGO REJOICES.

The Election of Grant Pleases the Leading Republicans
(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, May 6.—(Special Dispatch.) The enthusiasm over Grant's election as delegate-at-large to St.
Louis is general throughout the city and county. The conservative element of the party, while deeply chagrined at the failure of the Seventh District convention to even mention worth and eminent ability, in my opinion would adorn American history in being named at St. Louis for the Vice-Presidency of the United States. McKinley and Grant, in my opinion, will appeal to the highest and most patriotic elements of American citizenship. I quite agree with the sentiments uttered by my friend, Gen. Barnes of San Francisco, in the nomination of Grant before the State constants. Barnes of San Francisco, in the nomination of Grant before the State convention. I want this son of this great man treated as the son of Lincoln is treated in his State. I want him honored for his name as well as for his worth. I want him honored for his worth no less than for the honored name he bears."

D. C. Reed, a leading Republican, says: "The opposition by J. W. Thompsays: "The opposition by J. W. Thompson, chairman of the Seventh Congress District, and others from this city, to Grant's nomination was an outrage. Their razor-edge visions did not reach beyond the San Diego postoffice and custom-house. I have just telegraphed Grant congratulations on his nomina-tion on the first ballot, and that in my opinion McKinley of Ohio for President and Grant of California for Vice-Presi-dent would sweep the whole country from Maine to the Golden Gate. Mc-Kinley will protect the products of the Kinley will protect the products of the farm throughout the Jand, and in the South will protect the products of the men released by Gen, Grant at Appomattox when he said, 'Let the men have their horses and go back and build up their homes.'"

Heber Ingle said: 'T am glad to see the Presidential lightning striking so the Presidential lightning striking so near my home. I live next door to Mr. Grant. He is eminently fitted for any honor or responsibilities that may be placed upon him."

Judge George Puterbach remarked: "I am greatly delighted to hear that California has selected U.S. Grant, Jr., for delegate-at-large to St. Louis. McKinley and Grant as a Presidential ticket tered by his distinguished father: Let us have peace will be more fully real-ized."

Judge George Fuller met an enthusiastic friend of Grant on the streets, and astic friend of Grant on the streets, and taking him aside said: "There is running in my mind that Grant of California ought to be placed on the ticket with McKinley of Ohio. That ticket would be accepted by the country as an evidence of prosperity and confidence."

Many other leading Republicans and prominent Democrats as well, expressed pleasure at the selection of Grant as delegate, and the desire to see him on the national ticket with McKinley is enthusiastically held by the people

EASTERN POLITICS.

The Hoosiers Will Go for McKinley

if Beamy Permits.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 6.—That the Indiana Republican Convention will instruct its delegates for McKinley when it meets tomorrow seems an assured fact tonight. Eight out of the thirteen it meets tomorrow seems an assured fact tonight. Eight out of the thirteen districts in the State, at caucuses held this evening, instructed their representatives on the Resolutions Committee to vote for incorporation of McKinley resolutions in the platform, and one district the Fourth, refused to vote against instructions, merely tabling their resolution.

Ex-President Harrison has been invited to address the gathering, and what he may do and say, providing he accepts the invitation, is the element of uncertainty. It is generally believed that the general will appear, and it is also believed that no pending sensation is hidden under that appearance, but disquieting rumors, unverified but persistent, are floating about Republican headquarters to the effect that a stampede to Harrison will follow his address. The fact that both ex-United States Marshal Daniel Ramsdell and John C. New are out in interviews declaring that no McKinley instructions would be adopted if the ex-President made a speech is pointed to as significant, but the McKinley men laugh at the idea, and declare that they will have a walkover. Meanwhile Gen, Harrison maintains silence, and has not even announced his determination to address the convention, although he has practically admitted that he expects to do so.

All day the air was full of promise nounced his determination to address the convention, although he has practically admitted that he expects to do so.

All day the air was full of promise of a bitter struggle tomorrow. The anti-McKinley forces declars the entire eastern opposition to the Ohio man would throw the strength of all other candidates to Gen. Harrison at the St. Louis convention, and it was strongly argued that with such a possibility in view, if Indiana should be unpledged and unhampered, the delegation might huril its whole weight into the Harrison stamped. This argument was apparently teiling on the McKinley forces, and there was every prospect of a bitter fight on McKinley-Harrison lines until tonight's action of the district delegations was made known. Many of the anti-instruction people declared the matter about settled, and, though it is said a strong fight will be made in the convention, the chances for a prolonged battle are not so good as earlier in the day.

A side from the Presidential feature, the main interest in the convention centers in the race for the gubernatoriol nomination. There are thirteen active candidates in the field, and at midnight tonight every one of them expressed himself as confident of victory.

Ex-Secretary of State Charles F. Griffin of Lake county, Atty.-Gen. Griffiths of Marion, and C. T. Doxey, the natural-gas magnate of Madison, seem to have rather the better of the battle tonight twen in a tage of the recommendation.

battle tonight, but it is still any man's race.

The candidates' headquarters at the Denison Hotel were in a stage of siege all day, and bunting and badges and drum corps and bands added to the confusion caused by the massing of delegates and visitors.

The Committee on PermanentOrganization met tonight and after a long caucus, selected ex-Secretary of the Navy Richard Thompson as temporary and permanent chairman. Owing to his advanced age, however, he will name a man as active chairman, while he himself will act as the honorary presiding officer. The Committee on Resolutions remained in session very late, considering the platform. The choice of the delegates at-large will not be known until the convention meets.

HAS NOT KEPT HER PLEDGE.

The Democratic Convention May Go Elsewhere Than to Chicago. (BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) CHICAGO, May 6.—(Special Dispatch.) Chairman Harrity of the Democratic National Committee has written a letter to each member of the committee in which he says as Chicago has not kept her pledge to the National Committee it is time to consider the probability of the convention being held in some other city. In this letter Harrity called attention to the fact that Chicago had raised only $10,000 of the $40,000 promised when this city was released on the place for 000 of the $40,000 promised when this city was selected as the place for holding the convention. There seemed to be a probability, he added, that Chicago could not or would not, raise any more money, and it was desirable, therefore, to be looking around for another legation.

therefore, to be looking around for another location.

The sub-committee of the National Committee will meet in this city on Friday. No one here believes the money will be raised by that time, but it is thought the chairman can be talked into giving the city more time. According to the agreement made with the National Committee by the Chicago men who went to Washington to cago men who went to Washington to secure the location of the convention here, $10.000 was to have been paid to the sub-committee of the Executive Committee on April 11. A like amount was to have been paid on April 21, $10,000 on May 1, $5000 on May 16 and $5000 on June 1. The only sum paid so far was handed to the sub-committee when it met two weeks ago, and Chairman Harrity is naturally displeased at such a dilatory way of doing things. cago men who went to Washington to

Joseph Donnersberger is chairman of the local committee. When seen to-night he said: "Even when we get all the money promised by local subscrib-ers we will be $14,000 short, but we have every hope of getting the money that was subscribed. The National Committee has not pressed us, so we did not press the subscribers. There remains time enough between now and Friday for us to get out and collect the money. A few subscribers have asked for time on a plea of being temporarily pinched for money. There will be a meeting of the local committee in my office Friday morning, the day the national sub-committee meets here, at which the situation will be discussed."

The forenoon was spent in examining Conductor Charles Akers, to impeach Trusty, and A. J. Clark, Charles Owens, Frank Rebstock, Anna and J. R. Pinkard, as to George Jackson's reliability. George Jackson's testimony was corroborated.

The testimony of Carrie Evans of the Cincinnati tenderioin district, created a sensation. Trusty testified that he met her on January 31, and was introduced to an old doctor by her and they took the body of Pearl Bryan out of the house on Geroge street and conveyed it across the river to Fort Thomas. She testified today that she never saw Trusty until April 23, a month ago. She was then introduced to Trusty by John Seward, the detective, who drilled her and Trusty for witnesses.

RUMORS ABOUT THE BERMUDA.

NEW YORK, May 6.—A World dispatch from Havana via Key West, Fia., says that there is tremendous excitement throughout Cuba over the rumor that the Bermuda has landed her arms and men on the northern coast. It is said that while the cruiser Reina Mercedes waited for an insurgent expedition at the hole in the wall, between Nassau and Abbecco, the Bermuda took the outside course and escaped. She was pursued by a Spanish man-of-war, but was too fast to be caught. The Spanish commanders seem to realize the danger of having to face the machine guns handled by trained American artillerymen. Union Iron Works, today gave her an unofficial trial trip from Hunter's Point to Red Rock for the purpose of loosening up Tier machinery for the official trial which will soon take place in Santa Barbara Channel. The Oregon developed a speed of twelve knots an hour at half speed, and Henry T. Scott, the builder, predicted that the vessel would make over sixteen knots on her official trip.

Considerable importance attaches to this statement from the fact that the government will give the builders $50,000 for each quarer-knot, developed in excess of sixteen knots. Great rivalry exists between eastern and western ship-builders, and if the Oregon should beat the record of 15½ knots established by her sister ship, the Indiana, California will have reason to feel proud. The trial made today was in every way satisfactory.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—When George G. Haag, 25 years old, told the occupants of the Monarch boarding-house that he belonged to a suicide club and would kill himself when the proper time came, they treated the matter as a joke. When he took a dose of strychnine last night in the rooms of Mrs. Nelle Parker, who was his spiritual guide to the other world, they realized he meant what he had said.

Haag was a quiet, good-natured young man, who said little or nothing to any one. He never seemed to be in want for anything, and often spoke of his father, who lives in Tyner City, Marshall county, Ind., as being a man of means, and it is presumed his father kept him supplied with money. He came to this city about two years ago. He claimed to have been a member of the Central Suicide Club of New Jersey, and that when his time came to die he would die like a man.

SAN JOSE, May 6.—Never before in the history of this city has there been witnessed such a magnificent spectacle as that presented to the gaze of 30,000 people this evening when the great floral procession passed along the streets to the music of a dozen bands. The procession started shortly after 2 o'clock, divided into nine divisions. It is said to have been the grandest affair ever held in the State.

This evening an illustrated concert was given at the pavilion by Roncovieri's Band, and the building was crowded to the doors. The streets and parks were illuminated and the side-walks were impassible, owing to the throng of sight-seers. The polo game will take place tomorrow afternoon and in the evening a grand ball will follow.

This was followed by a resolution, the preamble of which said Rev. LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) May 6.—To Willie Sims, rather than Ben Brush, belongs the credit of victory in the twenty-second Kentucky Derby. The great son of Bramble was not fit for a brushing race, such as he had this afternoon, but under the care and guidance of Sims, he landed the coveted prize and the first Kentucky Derby ever run at the shortened distance of one mile and a quarter. All the honor and the $5000 which went to Ben Brush properly belonged to Ben Eder, and had it not been for the stable boy who essayed to pilot the son of Fonso, there would have been several lengths of daylight between Ben Brush and Ben Eder, which should have showed the way under the wire. course there was no free field, but in the stand, in the betting ring and on the lawn it was one solid mass of humanity. Every place of vantage was occupied, and even then there were hundreds who only got a glimpse of the bright-colored packets as the crack three-year-olds of the country raced for the glories of the Kentucky Derby. The betting-ring was one immovable mass of people. From one end to the other men were crowded, jostled and fairly fought, their way through the throng to the man on the block. But every one of the nineteen bookles had more than they could do to accommodate the people, and when the flag finally went down, thousands of uplifted hands were still waving greenbacks in their futile efforts to place them. Aside from Ben Brush, probably the heaviest play was made on Ben Eder, for he opened at 10, and when the books were finally closed, he had been backed down to half. Ulysses carried a deal of money, as did also First Mate; in fact, every candidate for honor, and incidentally the largest end of the $6000 had his friends, even down to The Winner and The Parson.

First Mate showed a bad temper at the post, keeping it up until they were all caught in line and sent away, after two unsuccessful attempts and twenty minutes' delay. When the flag went down Starter Chinn had them well in hand, with Ben Eder having an advantage of a neck. The Winner second. First Mate third, The Dragon fourth, Parson fifth, Ulysses sixth, Ben Brush seventh and Semper Ego last. the company's lawyer, to be used at his discretion. Rhodes also left instructions that if his continuance as a member of the Queen's Privy Council, a purely nominal distinction, were deemed inadvisable, his name should be struck from the list.

Hawkesley has now communicated these facts to Chamberlain, and the Cabinet will decide tomorrow whether to accept Rhodes's resignation or not, for, strange to say, despite the recent revelations, there is a strong party, both in the government and among its supporters, totally averse to adopting any hostile action toward Rhodes.

The World's correspondent hears also that President Krueger has in his possession altogether fifty-four incriminating telegrams, of which he has so far published only about a dozen. Many of these still unpublished are understood to be innocuous, but of the others several will provide very striking revelations.

The critical character of the situa-

The critical character of the situation as between Great Britain and the Transvaal before President Krueger's masterly use of the captured cipher dispatches may be gauged from advices recently received from Sir Hercules Robinson to the imperial government, which had invited an opinion from him on the policy to be adopted. He replied that there were two courses open to the imperial government, either to sit still and await Krueger's action toward the Utitanders, or to take immediate warlike measures. He favored the former policy, because it would take 50,000 men to conquer the Transvaal, to say nothing of the consequential troubles and complications it would entail. month, and to Gen. Nathan Kimball, $100 per month.

An attempt was made to reduce the amount of the proposed pension to the widow of Gen. Gresham, and eloquent tributes were paid to Gen. Gresham's memory by Messrs. Pickler of South Dakota, Curtis of New York and Evans of Kentucky, but the Democrats took no part whatever in the brief debate. Mr. Crowther of Missouri moved to reduce the rate of the proposed pension to $50 per month.

Mr. Pickler urged the House not to reduce the pension carried by the bill. Gen. Gresham's distinguished services in military and civil life, he said, made the bill in every way exceptional. He died in the harness, Mr. Pickler said, and he thought, in view of the great popularity of Gen. Gresham, whose friends all over the country had been legion, that the House owed to itself to pass this bill without amendment.

Mr. Crowther, however, contended that there was no reason why such a distinction should be made in favor of Gen. Gresham's widow. There were thousands as deserving widows as she.

Mr. Blue of Kanas offered a compromise proposition of $75 per month. He referred to the fact that the House had declined to give more than $75 per month to the widow of Gen. Blunt of Kansas, and thought Mrs. Gresham stood on no better footing than she.

"Mr. Gresham," he said, "had been on the pay-roll of the government almost incessantly for thirty-five years, and if his widow was not in easy circumstances there must have been some profligacy somewhere."

Gen. Curtis of New York, Mr. Cannon of Illinois and Mr. Evans of Kentucky warmly advocated the bill as reported. Mr. Cannon thought the bill simple and scant justice," in view of the large pensions to other eminent commanders, and Mr. Evans expressed his sincere hope that both amendments were rejected, one without division, the other by a vote of 44 to 62. Several would be defeated. Both amendments were rejected, one without division, the other by a vote of 44 to 62. Several of the Democrats, including ex-Speaker Crisp, did not vote. The bill was passed.

Mr. Pickler, chairman on the Committee on Invalid Pensions, desired to keep the House in continuous session in order to go ahead passing bills all night, but the Committee on Rules protested stating that the special order did not contemplate prolonging the sessions beyond the regular hour for adjournment. He sought to prolong the session despite the protests of the leaders, and had many Republicans with him. When the quorum failed, shortly after 6 o'clock, the Speaker recognized Mr. Dingley to move an adjournment.

Mr. Pickler indignantly protested.

Mr. Pickle indignantly protested.

"This is an infernal proof of snap judgment," he shouted. "There were 100 members present, and we were entitled to go into the committee of the whole." "I call the gentleman to order," said

Mr. Payne.

"The gentleman will take his seat," ordered the Speaker.

"I'm stating the truth." Mr. Pickler replied defiantly, but he sat down after being again admonished by the Speaker.

being again admonished by the Speaker.

"After that exhibition, I think we had better adjourn," called out Mr. Evans, but Mr. Pickler railled his forces and defeated the motion to adjourn by 39 to 57.

Hethen moved a call of the House. Mr. Wise of Delaware supplemented with another motion to adjourn, and it looked as if Mr. Pickler intended to fight it out as long as he could get a handful of supporters to stand by him. Bift on the next rollcall the House voted by 52 to 48 to adjourn, and the session closed shortly after 7 o'clock. THE HAWAII-JAPAN CABLE.

THE HAWAII-JAPAN CABLE.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations today agreed to a compromise bill for a cable to Hawaii and Japan. The bill authorizes the Postmaster-General to enter into a contract on behalf of the United States with any company which may lay a cable to pay a subsidy not exceeding $160,000 a year. The bill has the support of Senator Morgan, and all Republican members of the committee. Senators Gray, Turple, Daniel and Mills, Democrats, opposed the bill.

is a favorable opportunity to secure telegraphic communication not only with Hawaii, but also with Japan, whose system connects with other countries of the Orient.

"This," says the report, "is brought within reach upon terms that relieve the United States from the cost and risk of maintenance, as well as from the aspects of commercial venture. The price is limited for private messages to Japan to almost one-third of what is now charged, while communication with Hawaii is provided ot 10 cents per word more than the price which competition has established for messages crossing the Atlantic."

This opportunity. the committee credits to Col Spaulding's Hawaiian concession. The report dwells upon both the economic and strategic importance of the cable. Referring to the latter point, it savs:

"The extent to which the interests of the nation as such are involved, may be seen by the fact that every telegraphic cable now crossing the Atlantic from North America has its starting point in Nova Scotia. In the event of any severance of peaceful relations with Great Britain communication by that channel would, of course, be immediately, and, as it were, automatically, closed and we would be dependent for telegraphic communication on cables crossing the Atlantic from Brazil to Portugal with all the contingencies that the situation would involve."

The committee says the cost of the cable would be $3,400,000, and that the interest on the expenditures would amount to $138,000, while the cost of maintenance would amount to $586,000 per year for the first five years. The committee says that the bill has been made to provide that the arrangements shall be made by contracts with the United States through the Postmaster-General and the lowest bidder, and shall be completed and continue under the supervision of that officer. The contract relation is believed to secure the United States better control than a mere grant would do, while it is accepted by the committee as giving to the grant an aspect of stability.

SHOOK AND MADE UP.

SHOOK AND MADE UP.
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Representatives Money of Mississippi and Hall of Missouri, who recently had a personal encounter, have adjusted their differences and shaken hands. The reconciliation was effected by ex-Speaker Crisp and Representative Catchings. Explanations showed the unpleasantness arose from a misunderstanding of the remarks of the two members over the bill relating to the personnel of the navy. Each expressed his regrets. SENATE AND HOUSE. WASHINGTON, May 6.-The fi WASHINGTON, May 6.—The final vote on the resolution for an investigation of recent bond issues will be taken in the Senate at 4 o'clock tomorrow. An agreement to this effect was reached late today, after several test votes had been taken, which clearly disclosed the sentiment of the Senate on the resolutions. The first vote taken was on the motion of Senator Sherman to refer the resolutions to the Finance Committee. This was defeated; yeas, 17; nays, 35. An amendment by Senator Lodge was then adopted, providing that the investigation should be conducted by the regular Finance Committee instead of a special committee, as at first proposed. Another anumer of the senate of the senat mittee instead of a special committee, as at first proposed. Another and nement by Senator Vilas, providing for modifications in the resolution, was voted down, the affirmative vote being only 7. After these tests, the agreement was reached for a final vote, when the resolution undoubtedly will pars. The voting came after Senator Hill had added another lively installment to his speech, including a sharp criticism of Senator Pettigrew and a personal exchange with Senator Wolcott, when the latter tried to call Senator Hill toorder.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The House Committee on Pensions today ordered a favorable report on the bill introduced by Representative Stallings to increase the pension of the veterans of the Mexican and Indian wars and their widows from $$ to $12 a month.

CIVIL SERVICE EXTENSION. CIVIL SERVICE EXTENSION.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The longexpected order of the President including in the civil service most offices now remaining outside the classified service was issued this afternoon. The order will include about thirty thousand additional government employés. Practically the only persons left outside the civil, service will be assistant secretaries and heads of bureaus and a few private secretaries and laborers. The order is to take effect immediately.

A Large Band.

The largest British regimental band is that of the Royal Artillery at Woolwich, while the finest is generally allowed to be the band of the Coldstream Guards. The Belgium Guides' regiment numbers more than one hundred members. The great continental powers recognize the military band as an essential adjunct of every regiment. In Austria and Spain it is said that they frequently number as many as eighty performers, and forty is a common number in Russia, Italy and Belgium England is still the only country which has adopted a systematic government method of educating her military bandsmen and bandmasters. State, Sisyphus was the ancient hero condemned by the gods to push a big boulder up-hill forever, lest it should roll down and crush him. When the myth-makers got up that story they must have been thinking of trouble on earth that keeps you so everlastingly struggling against being crushed into utter despair. Anything that cures ou so ever-ng crushed that cures weight of — and wo-mankind.

The trouble with most of the so-called dyspepsia - cures, is that they don't cure. They give only temporary relief. Indigestive tract, from the stomach clear down to the large intestine; the liver too is frequently involved in the trouble being torpid and inactive. For a thorough, radical, permanent cure you must have the whole digestive organism set right.—Not violently stirred up, but regulated. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will do it. They stimulate the digestive juices of the stomach; invigorate the liver and help it to actively secrete the bile; and act gently on the bowels to promote a regular healthy movement. This means a complete and lasting cure of digestive troubles.

The "Pellets" are not a severe cathartic. They act on the bowels naturally and comfortably though surely. The dose can be regulated to your needs, and when the "Pellets" have done their work they can be discontinued. You don't become a slave to their use, as with other pills. If the druggist suggest some griping pill that gives him more profit, think what will profit you most.

TABULES

Nearly every newspaper in the United States and Canada contains an advertisement for the Ripans Tabules. An immense demand has been created for them, not only because they are so well advertised, but also because their genuine merit is quickly proven when once tried for the innumerable ailments arising, primarily, from disorganization of the stomach, liver and bowels and the general impurity of the blood, for which such irregularity is subsequently responsible. For the relief of indigestion, over-indulgence at table, and obstinate constipation the Tabules are highly commended and largely employed, and one of the soundest recommendations they boast is the fact that they contain absolutely no element of injury for even the most delicate of constitutions.—The San Diego Union.

About the only government employees now outside the ivil-service rules are assistant secretaries, heads of bureaus, private secretaries and common laborers. Grover sees plainly that his administration will be the last Democratic administration for a number of years at least, and he is working carefully and methodically to keep as many Democrats as possible in office after the date of his own enforced retirement. Great is Grover. And great is civil-service reform as he interprets it.

The Kansas City Star sagely rearks: "The game is not through until it is played out, but it looks a good deal like a McKinley year." That is a significant admission from the staunch est of Mr. Allison's supporters. It does look, as the Star says, a good deal like a McKinley year. In fact, 1896 is not any other kind of a year.

(Chicago Inter Ocean on Illinois Convention:) The roll-call proceeded, but when it reached the country districts again the McKinley tide returned and it was soon apparent that it would sweep the convention. The McKinley enthusiasm was great, and at the close of the roll-call and before the vote was announced, Senator Fuller appeared again on the platform. He withdrew Mr. Madden's amendment, by permission of that rentleman, and then moved to adopt unanimously the am ndment of Mr. Bethea to substitute the name of McKinley for that of Cullom. The vote for McKinley had been more than 800, showing that he had the convention by a majority of nearly 200. When Mr. Fuller, in the name of Senator Cullom, moved to make the instruction for McKinley unanimous, and Alderman Madden seconded the motion, there went up a greater and grander cheer than ever before, for there was no division in it, and McKinley was the universal choice of Ill-nois for President. The flags were waved again, hats were thrown in the air, and the delegates went wild in their enthusiasm over the name of the Ohio man.

Foraker Denies It.

(New York Tribune): The talk of politicians for some days has indicated that the opponents of Maj. McKinley realize their inability to defeathim as matters now stand, and that a "move" must be made outside of the men who are now looked upon as composing the field. What this play is to be was one of the questions discussed. Some believed that an attempt would be made to unite on Gen. Harrison, as the only man likely to call about him sufficient strength to prevent the nomination of McKinley at an early stage in the convention proceedings, and bring about a deadlock. Such a determination, it was admitted, must be almost as bitter a dose for Messrs. Platt, Quay, Clarkson and others of the noted "combine" as to be obliged to acknowledge the preëminence of McKinley Senator-elect Foraker, who was supposed to sympathize with the plans of the "combine," was quoted yesterday as saving that Gen. Harrison had acc posed to sympathize with the plans of the "combine," was quoted yesterday as saying that Gen. Harrison had acquired political wisdom with age, and that Harrison, was the logical candidate of the anti-McKinley men. Mr. Foraker, however, prouptly denied that he had ever made such a statement. He added: "We are for McKinley in Ohio, and are not making deals, anywhere."

McKinley in Illinois.

(Kansas City Star:) It cannot be denied that the indorsement of McKinley by the Illinois convention adds greatly to the strength of the Ohio candidate for President. It is reported that Matt Quay concedes that it insures McKinley's nomination, but that story is probably without foundation, unless the Pennsylvania politician has made some deal with the McKinley managers. It is true that the instructions for McKinley would have stood as a more accurate test of his strength if he had been opposed by a more able and popular man than Cullom. The latter has been in public life in Illinois for many years as Governor of the State and as a member of the United States Senate. His career has been without notable achievements, and the people have grown somewhat weary of him. They have honored him abundantly, and he has not brought distinction to the State. He has no claims to the Presidential nomination, and his candidacy created no enthusiasm. These circumstances modify in a degree the signif-McKinley in Illinois. idential nomination, and his candidacy created no enthusiasm. These circumstances modify in a degree the significance of McKinley's victory, but all the same it puts him still further ahead in the race, and eliminates one element of opposition on which the combination against him could have relied had Cullom been successful.

A Good and Wise Reason.

(Lafayette Courier:) The large majority of the Republicans of Indiana who favor the nomination of Maj. Mc-Kinley are not asking that the delegates at-large be instructed because of any lack of faith in the integrity or honest purposes of any of the gentlemen who are prominently mentioned in that connection, but justify the demand on the ground that it would afford them an opportunity to formally express their preferences in unequivocal terms, and thus set at rest the irritating reports which are constantly appearing in eastern newspapers to the effect that Indiana sentiment is wavering and that the pretended support of McKinley is designed only for the purpose of placing the delegation in a more favorable position for entering into secret combinations and corrupt bargains. The sentiment of the masses is known to be in favor of the Ohio candidate. That much is conceded by everybody, and it is unfair and unjust to argue that it is good politics to stife the voice of the people under such circumstances. A Good and Wise Re siastic as it was, has a wider signifi-cance than the instruction of four dele-gates-at-large. It will be far-reaching in its effects, and may come to be re-garded as one of the most remarkable and decisive incidents in a great cam-paign. 4The delegates-at-large repre-sent the two great Republicans papers of the State, and in ex-Gov. Oglesby and ex-Gov. Fifer the two wings of the Republican party as it divided on the Prasidential question in the preliminary canvass.

Cullom's Course.

(Chicago Post, Washington special:) Senator Cullom's position, as it is understood here, is that out of consideration for Senators Allison and Quay and "Tom" Platt, with whom he has been on very friendly terms of late, he will not formally withdraw from the field: but will lend them whatever advantage they may think there is in keeping his name at the masthead—that is, if they should wish to continue the farce of playing that they are still really candidates. It is also very thoroughly understood that Senator Cullom has released those of the Illinois delegation who are personally pledged to him and given them to understand that they are free to form new alliances. On reaching Washington he will consult with his colleagues, and the result may be that he will decide that the more dignifed course for him to pursue under the circumstances will be to formally advise his friends by letter, as he has already done in effect in an authorized statement, to unite on McKinley. However that may be, Senators Allison and Quay expect him to see them before going formally on record further.

The Aims of Mr. Platt. The Aims of Mr. Platt.

(New York Tribune:) The efforts of the McKinley advocates in this State seem to the Rochester Herald analogous to those of the Democrats who organized the May convention in Syracuse in 1892 to counteract the impression that New York Democracy was unanimous for Hill. "The McKinley movement in this State," it adds, "is the foundation of an anti-Platt organization, which will have the support of the Federal administration in the event of McKinley's nomination and election. The Republican boss is shrewd enough to perceive that if McKinley captures the prize Thomas C. Platt will not control the Federal patronage of New York city."

Another Quay Bolter.

(Toledo Blade, Washington special:) Another Pennsylvania delegate to the national convention has deserted Quay and declared himself for McKinley. This is Col. Hackett, the other delegate from the district which National Committeeman Martin who, yesterday, declared for McKinley, also represents in part at St. Louis. This is believed to be the beginning of the end of Quay's self-made boom. Already McKinley is assured of six delegates from Pennsylvania, and it is believed will have one-third of them by the time the convention meets, if not more.

The Bosses' Waterloo.

(Chicago Times-Heraid:) It (Illinois convention.) is a triumph for McKinley, but it is more than that. It is a Waterloo for bossism in the Republican party. It is the crowning demonstration that a great national organization, composed of millions of unpurchased and unpurchasable freemes, cannot be thwarted in the expression of honest purposes by a conspiracy of spoiismen, however powerful in its membership. It means that the masses of the party are determined once more that the party of Lincoin, Grant and Blaine shall put forward for the highest office in the sift of the nation the man who most conspicuously represents and personifies its fundamental principles and most honorable traditions. It means in the gift of the nation the man who most conspicuously represents and personifies its fundamental principles and most honorable traditions. It means that Illinois Republicans recognize in William McKinley the legitimate and worthy successor of those great men of other days with whose fame Illinois. empire State of the West, enriched the annals of the nation.

Where They Erred.

(Chicago Post:) The plotters against the McKinley sentiment counted without the host of the people. They failed to take into account that a great popular sentiment is not a purchasable or deliverable commodity. It springs from the homes and firesides of the country and makes itself felt like the wind that comes from no man knows where and bloweth where it listeth. The Republicans of Illinois, they who till its broad prairies, delve in its mines and labor in its myriad workshops, desired the nomination of McKinley, and all the plots and tricks and deals of the politicians were ineffectual to deflect or muzzle their demand. Where They Erred.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat:) Senator Sherman has written a letter indorsing McKinley's financial views. It was entirely unnecessary. The people approve the stand of the Ohlo candidate on that great issue, as is attested by the flocking of delegates to his standard.

Insures McKinley's Nomination, (Chicago Post.) "The nomination of Maj. McKinley for President of the United States, which is practically assured by the action of the State convention yesterday is the end of a period of business depression and the beginning of a long period of prosperity," said Gen. John McNuita today. "The revival in anticipation of this result has already begun, as every man now knows what the policy of the government will be for the next four years. The effect will be felt in every line of trade and industry."

(New York Mail and Express:) Secretary Carlisie's determination to ignore his old record in favor of free silver, is the act of a crafty politician. He doubtless feels that a man in his position must let by-gones be by-gones, unless he wants to become one of them.

A "Rump" Convention. A "Ramp" Convention.

(Chicago Chronicle:) Horace Boles was beaten at Waterloo, his own town, as a candidate for delegate to the Iowa Democratic State Convention. When the district convention met it was found that the honest-money men were in a majority of two to one over the silverites and they proceeded to the silver faction boited and held a small "rump" convention, which chose contesting delegates, but they will get no seats at the State convention.

All in Line Now. All in Line Now.

(New York Tribune:) Every Republican newspaper in Syracuse is now reconciled to McKinley's candidacy.

Originally the Post was in favor of Speaker Reed. The Standard and the Journal, as organs of the State machine, favored Gov. Morton, but all of them have swung gracefully into line for the Canton statesman. "They simply regard McKinley as the almost certain nominee," says the Syracuse Herain nominee," says the Syracuse Heraid, and see no good reason why they should not freely express their views.

Other End of the Ticket.

same game for Gov. Lowndes, and the Marylanders are congratulating themselves that their State comes before New Jersey on the roll call. In this connection it may be said that willy Steve Elkins is not as gleeful as he was about the position which West Virginia occupies on the roll of States. A week or two ago he felt very good because his balliwick was not to be called until near the very last. While now he would be much better satisfied if it were higher up on the alphabet. The nomination is likely to have been made before West Virginia is reached.

Sherman May Be Treasurer.

(New York Mail and Express.) It looks to us now as if John Sherman, and not Thomas C. Platt, will be the next Secretary of the Treasury. And what a blessed relief it would be; how the confidence of the business and financial public would be quickened and inspired, to see the bond-issuing, deficit-producing. property-wrecking administration of Carlisle succeeded by the wise, courageous, intelligent and conservative genius of a master in statesmanship and finance. John Sherman aiready ranks with Hamilton, Gallatin, Walker and Chase, in the grateful memory of Americans, but to lift the finances and the credit of the government out of the Slough of Despond into which the crack-brained folly of Cleveland and Carlisle has plunged them would establish the name of the grand old financier in the place of Abou Ben Adhem's on the roll of American government financiers.

Deluded Leaders.

Chicago Post Washington Special:)
Illinois has given the combine leaders the final, convincing proof of the resistless force of the McKinley tidal wave. They have been building on the theory that the popular demand for McKinley was merely a fever in the blood and that a reaction would set in presently and give them opportunity to maneuver the great apostle of protection to defeat. They have been deluding themselves into the belief many times recently that they could detect unfalling signs of the supposedly inevitable reaction. Until now many of the brightest and cleverest politicians and manipulators in the land have really thought they would yet be able to defeat the popular demand for McKinley. They realize the utter futility of their efforts in that direction and that they might as well attempt to stem a Niagara torrent with a shingle dam as to undertake the derangement of McKinley boom. In the face of the Springfield result their elaborate planning and generalship, usually so effective, is a game of mere politics, weak and puny. The giants of former struggles have been helpless as logs on the surface of a mad, swollen river.

Collapse of the Bosses.

(Chicago Times-Herald Special from Washington:) It is almost pathetic, this collapse of the elaborate scheme set up last fall by the big politicians of the Republican party, and in giving this plain, matter-of-fact gossip of the situation I hope I shall not be accused of "rubbing it in" on a lot of manly fellows just because they have lost their fight. Another sample of the manner in which everybody goes against them is found in the State of Virginia. In his great table given out last Sunday Joe Manley connecded that McKinley had twelve votes in Virginia, but claimed four for Reed. Gen. Walker, representative from Virginia and a Reed manager, was asked how the delegation to St. Louis would stand. "McKinley will have twenty-two of the twenty-four votes from Virginia," replied Gen. Walker. "All the differences in the party in our State have been healed, and we have a good chance to carry Virginia for protection in November." Collapse of the Bosses.

(New York Mail and Express:) Public office is a public trust, and in the case of the Presidency the trustee manifests his willingness, not to say a positive yearning, to continue in the service of his native land. Unfortunately for him, however, the people have made other arrangements.

(Mail and Express:) The President has had one runaway accident already this season, and he will probably meet with another if he drives in the way of the free-silver steers now attached to the Democratic cart. His only safe course is to keep both feet on the ground.

Represents the People.

Represents the People.

(Pittsburgh News:) Mr. McKinley's progress is not secured by depreciating the character or worth of any of the other candidates. His followers respect every one of them who has entered the field with sincerity. He is going on from conquering to conquer because he represents the purpose of the vast majority of the people.

(New York Mail and Express:) The Pennsylvania Democracy's favorite son, to-wit, the Hon. Robert E. Pattison of Maryland, is squarely in the field of Presidential candidates. In the event of his nomination he would have about as much chance of election as Jerry Simpson has of being made Pope of Rome.

Carter's Opinion (Chicago Post;) Chairman Tom Car-ter, of the National Republican Com-mittee, says: "It looks as if the nomi-nation of McKinley is an absolute cer-tainty, and I would not be surprised if his name should be the only one pre-sented at the St. Louis convention."

CAMPAIGN SHOTS.

(Toledo Blade:) McKinley campfires are ablaze in every State.

(Toledo Blade:) Senator Quay had better bolt the door or he will not have any delegates left.

(Arizona. Gasette:) The Bradley boom is not without its uses. Kentucky Republicans "smille" over it.

(Toledo Blade:) Vermont has no favorite son, and no sectional son; she wants the people's choice—McKinley.

(Chicago Post:) Every day adds to the loneliness of the people outside of the McKinley wagon, and to the number of those in it.

(New York Commercial Advertiser:) The Runsell boom is as loud as the report of a dampened firecracker, and just about as effective.

(Chicago Inter Ocean:) Iowa Democrats are becoming classical. They now want to translate Horace (Boles) to the White House.

(San Francisco Bulletin:) The managers may not have determined to nominate McKinley by acclamation, but perhaps it is not necessary. There are things in politics which determine themselves.

(Washington Post:) The financial question is so prominent down in Georgia that at every lynching these days the mob winds up by adopting resolutions in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

(Syracuse Courier, Dem.:) "After Cleveland, what!" exclaims the New York Mail and Express. Well, it looks very much like a Republican President, and president indications point to Maj. McKinley.

Maj. McKiniey.

(Chicago News:) Mr. Harrison says that what he does is none of John Sherman's business. There can be no question as to this, as henceforth Benjamin's time will be spent in the back yard of his own private life.

(San Francisco Bulletin:) Mr. Reed has expressed great discouragement at the condition of his boom, and this spring weather is trying. There is still room in the Ohio wagon, nevertheless, for the Maine man, as for all the rest.

(New York Commercial Advertiser.)

(New York Commercial Advertiser:) Senator Quay has had his State of Pennsylvania for several days, and has not yet offered it for sale to the highest bidder, as the Pretorian Guards clid the Roman Empire. Perhaps Mr. Quay acquired that valuable property for himself after all.

EDWARDS P. CARNICLE LOCKED UP IN JAIL LAST EVENING.

Will Be Tried for Complicity in the Time-check Business - The Architect Denies All Criminal Connection with the Case.

The expected important new devel-pment in the fictitious time-check candal has materialised. Edward P. arnicle, the architect of the Newell Carnicle, the architect of the Newell & Gammon Block, was arrested yesterday on three charges of felony. Ever since the arrest of Carpenter, Mitchell and Hamm, it has been common talk that there was another man, or perhaps more, in the background, who was fully as much implicated in the swindle as the three conspirators already in jail. Deputy District Attorney Willis has been working on this idea, and yesterday he issued three complaints against E. P. Carnicle, the architect, under the statute which makes it a felony to either make or have in one's possession with intent to defraud, fictitious checks, time-checks and the like. The three fictitious time-checks with which he is specifically accused of a guilty conection, are made out to S. Molistine for $49.50, C. Mason for $12.37 and Alex Ferris for $49.50 Three new complaints have been sworn out against Carpenter and Hamm and one new one against Mitchell. In the case of the eleven fraudulent

In the case of the eleven fraudulent time-checks which were discounted by Smith, Mr. Willis yesterday said: "Carpenter is the maker. Hamm took them to Smith and Carnicle afterward assured the broker that they were all right. Caraicle received some of the money for those time-checks, received it in the presence of witnesses. The laws provide that a man who aids in the commission of a felony by some other man is himself guilty of a felony. "We could make twenty different charges against these men on each of the fraudulent time-checks—conspiracy to defraud, obtaining money under false pretenses, forgery, perjury, having and passing fictitious checks, etc."

If all the twenty were pushed, in event of conviction, the conspirators would stand a good chance of spending several hundred years in the penitentary.

several hundred years in the penitentiary.

After his arrest, Carnicle was seen in his cell at the Police Station by a Times reporter.

"None of the money ever passed through my hands or through iny office," said he. "I asked the office boy about it this morning, and he raid romoney or envelopes had been left there. These time-checks were all signed by the contractor of the building, F. W. Strange, and all I know about them is that the signatures of Strange were genuine. Most emphatically I did not receive any money, and know nothing about any bogus time-checks."

discounting time-checks for labor on the Newell & Gammon block for some weeks.

"When this business of paying off the men by time-checks began." he said yesterday to a Times reporter, "the workmen went to Veazie. Newell's son-in-law, to have their time-checks discounted. The men began to talk. They declared that Newell was practicing this plan merely to get out of paying them full wages and that it was Newell's money that Veazie was handling. This made Newell mad, and Veazie stopped discounting time-checks and Newell & Gammon refused to pay when they were presented.

"The boys came to me and I discount their time-checks at a liberal rate. I had been around the building and I knew all the workmen, or nearly all of them. So when Hamm came to me one day with the eleven fictitious time-checks he afterwards passed on Smith, I refused to discount them.

"At present I have about $1200 worth of these Newell & Gammon Block time-checks in my possession. Newell has refused to pay them. I offered to take 80 cents on the dollar, $0 cents, and finally $0, if the material men would make the same terms with him, in order to avoid the bother and expense of litigation. But the matter could not be arranged. As Newell has forced me into a fight, I will spare no efforts to win. At considerable expense I have had the men hunted up for whom I discounted checks and have had them swear to mechanic's liens. I have found all the workmen except a very few who brought checks to me for half a day's labor or a day's labor. These are so small in amount that it would cost more to hunt the men up and have the passes of their time-checks.

"I didn't discount a single fictitious check. I knew all the workmen so well check. I knew all the workmen so well check. I knew all the workmen so well check.

have them swear to a lien than the face value of their time-checks.

"I didn't discount a single fictifious check. I knew all the workmen so well and was so careful about the business that I could not be deceived."

The claim has been made that only eleven fictifious time-checks were passed altogether. This Mr. Willis disbelieves. B. E. Vickrey, who is associated with Earl B. Rogers in the matter, said yesterday:

"There are lots more of these fictitious checks out. Hamm himself swore to twenty-three before one notary public. The reason that more checks are not brought forward is that the brokers who were swindled are afraid to come forward and acknowledge that they have been taken in. The damage to their reputations would seem to them to be more than the actual monetary loss of not bringing forward the checks they had discounted."

Mr. Willis makes the statement that he knows of brokers who were swindled, but he is not at liberty to use their names.

GEN. JOHN MANSFIELD.

Death of a Prominent Citisen of Los Angeles.

Gen. John Mansheld died suddenly at his home No. 401 Hill street, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, from apoplexy. He complained of not feeling well about ten days ago, but was not too ill to be out of bed every day. He retired as usual Tuesday night, and arose shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning. He had evidently been stricken while in the act of dressing, as he was found by members of his family, lying on his bed, partially dressed. When found he was unconscious, in which condition he remained until his death.

His attending physician was hastily summoned, but when he arrived the general was dead.

Gen. Mansfield was born at Mendon, N. Y. in August, 1822. He fought valiantly in the late war, and was colonel of a regiment, which before his command of it had lost more men than any other regiment in the service. Twice he was wounded severely, and on the last occasion so badly that he was left on the field for dead.

Coming to California in 1870, he became editor of the Morning Republican, and later was a member of the State Constitutional Convention. Under the Constitutional Convention. Under the Constitution adopted by the convention, he was ejected First Lleutenant-Governor under Gov. Perkins.

After the expiration of his term of office he practiced law in this city, and has for many years been one of the directors of the State Normal School.

Some time ago Gen. Mansfield was connected with the Goodspeed will case, which attracted widespread attention.

SMASHED THE BUGGY.

Horse and Driver Hurt by an Elec-tric Car. The first accident on the Santa Mon-ica Electric Railway occurred last evening about 7:40. At that hour the west-bound car was proceeding west-bound car was proceeding at moderate speed about a mile east of the power-house, which is located at the station of Sherman midway between Los Angeles and Santa Monica, when it collided with a horse and buggy that was crossing the track.

Despite the effort of the motorman the car struck the rig with considerable force, smashing the buggy and cutting off the two hind legs of the horse. The driver, Pat Higgins, of Coldwater Cañon, was thrown out of the buggy and was seriously brulsed. The injured man was taken to the company's power-house, where he soon received medical treatment. It is not yet known how badly he was hurt.

on San Pedro street, was present when the board met yesterday, to voice his complaint anew. He alleged that the petition, by means o' which the black-smith-shop people obtained their permit, contained forged signatures. The matter has been heard by the commission, many times, and yesterday Mr. Frasher was advised to seek relief in the courts, as the commissioners, whether wrongly or not, decided that they had no jurisdiction over the points raised by Mr. Frasher.

Some discussion was had in the commission over the matter of giving 1500 feet of hose to the Street Sprinkling Superintendent for use in his depariment. The Council understanding that this amount of hose was to be condemned by the Fire Chief, had given John Drain, the Street Sprinkling Superintendent, an order for the foce. Drain was told by a Fire Commissioner that a simple order wouldn't do-arequisition from the Council must be had.

Drain procured the requisition and yesterday presented it to the commission. But in the mean time the commissioners decided that the 1500 feet of home was too good to condend issioners decided that the low teet of see was too good to condemn, and ac-edingly Drain was informed that the quisition could not be honored, as the partment had no hose to give away, rain is now advising the street-sprink-ag contractor to purchase $150 worth those at his own expense, and quit toling with the fire department and active Council.

The application of A. L. Sellg for appointment as callman was ordered filed.

A communication from the Gas Consumers' Protective Association offering to attach their machinery to the gas pipes and meters in the engine-houses, and save money to the department thereby, was received and filed.

A. E. Olshausen, residing at No. 1417 South Flower street, notified the commission, through his attorneys, that at the house at No. 1421 South Flower street, the smoke-stack and chimney of the building is constructed and used in such a manner as to endanger the surrounding property by fire, and annoy the residents of the neighborhood with smoke, soot and cluders. The petitioner asked that the nuisance be abated, and the owner and tenant of the property be notified to conform to the ordinances bearing upon the construction of smoke-stacks. The complaint was referred to the Chief.

The Chief reported recommending that the petition of Salyer Robinson asking for $\frac{3}{2}$ adamages sustained on their building on South Broadway, by reason of sparks alighting on their awning, from a fire engine, be filed; that the application of E. W. Snook and others for permission to erect and operate a steam engine at No. 416 East First street, be granted. These recommendations were adopted by the commission.

Two weeks additional time was granted the Chief in which to prepare his report in the matter of buildings which are not provided with fire-escapes.

The cause of the people against Carrajal was on trial before Justice Young yesterday. The defendant was charged with using indecent and offensive language toward Mrs. Doullard. The evidence showed that the defendant and another man were rounding up cattle near the Garsen slaughter yards, when a few head broke away, ran up the road and, upon being crowded, jumped a fence and ran through the plaintiff's growing barley. Mrs. Doullard went out and told him to keep his cattle out. Abusive and indecent language was used in reply. Justice Young found him guilty as charged and will pronounce sentence this morning at 9:30 o'clock. The crime is a simple misdemeanor and the fine ranges from $10 to $25.

John G. Letellier, the inventor of two patented improvements upon machines for manufacturing fruit baskets and boxes, has filed two separate suits in the Circuit Court against William Mann and George E. Johnson, manufacturers of machinery, for infringement of his patents. One of the inventions was a machine for cutting and folding the metal channel strips used in the manufacture of open-top fruit boxes and baskets, and the other an appliance for crimping the metal strip used in binding the tops of berry boxes. The defendants are charged with having appropriated the ideas and reaped large profits therefrom, and this suit is brought to enforce an accounting and obtain a perpetual injunction against the further use of the appliances unless by special license from the patentee.

MR. WATTE'S PAPER BEFORE THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

ting of the Board of Directors hamber of Commerce was held of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday afternoon.

Ita response to a request from the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Watts, whice represents the State Board of Mineralogy and is now all work among the oil fields of Southern California, presented the chamber with two geological maps of the oil formation of Los Angeles city, and tendered the following report on that interesting topic:

"In response to a request by your board that the State Mineralogist direct an assistant to pay special attention to the oil fields of Los Angeles, I was detailed by J. & Crawford, chief the oil report of the college of penetrate the order the sami-street pridge traces of oil contaminate the water.

"The Brook well, drilled by Mr. Chandler, and the Hoag & Silent well, which are situated in the north edge of De Soto Heights, must be very nearly on the strike of the formation penetrated by the oil well at Second-street Park. The Brook and the Hoag & Silent wells appear to be abandoned. It is said that heavy oil was obtained in the Brook well, but that it was impossible to case off the water without also casing off the oil.

"From the foregoing it appears that an extensive oil-yielding formation underlies a portion of Los Angeles; that up to date explorations outside of the Second-street Park oil fields have not been successful; but that, in most instances, the cause of failure has been water or water and quicksand.

"A review of the situation leads to the conclusion that the best results will be obtained by following the strike of the productive oil-yielding formation rather than by sporadic prospecting. When a point is reached where the formation is broken, in the absence of any rock exposures to prove that the geological disturbance is other than local, several hundred feet should be passed over and prospecting be recommenced still in the direction of what had been previously proven to be the strike of the oil-yielding rocks. Accurate drilling records should be kept, from which a profile of the oil-yielding strata might be made, and by which an engineer could trace, the course of the oils strike and the angle of the citon of the strike and the angle of the neer could trace, the course of the oil sand.

"In view of the fact that the direction of the strike and the angle of the dip is somewhat irregular, the safest mode of procedure is to progress gradually and not make too long jumps.

"J. J. Crawford, the State mineralogist, requests me to ask your acceptance of a sketch map of West Los Angles, which shows the trend of oil-yielding formations; also a geological sketch map of Los Angeles and vicinity. An'account of my work between Santa Barbara and the Puente oil district will evaptually be published by our department.

DEMOLISHED THE EAGLE. Villainous Work of a Gang of Schoolboys.

A band of unknown boys, students of the High School, broke into the building Tuesday night and destroyed one of the treasured possessions of the school, the big golden eagle that was carried by the pupils of the commercial department in the fiesta parades. Some months ago the Flesta Committee invited the High School pupils to participate in the great celebration. None of the pupils would agree to march except the boys of the commercial department. They drilled indefatigably for weeks, until they were excellently disciplined, and could march and countermarch, wheel and turn with faultless precision. The boys provided themselves with blue sailor suits and sailor caps, and when ready for marching they were a most picturesque sight.

In acknowledgment of the energy and sallor caps, and when ready for marching they were a most picturesque sight.

In acknowledgment of the energy and public spirit of the young men of the buisenss department, the flesta authorities did a graceful thing. They presented a huge golden eagle to the commercial course. The beautiful bird was carried by the boys in the flesta parades, making its first appearance in the Wednesday afternoon procession, with strands of blue and gold ribbon fluttering from its hooked beakthe colors of the class. It was not the boys of the commercial department alone who merited the gift of an eagle, the girls did their share in making the flesta a success, appearing in the flower parade in a beautifully-decorated six-in-hand.

When La Festa was over, the pupils of the commercial department offered to present the eagle to the school, on the one condition that they should be allowed to have their colors in its beak. The matter was brought up in faculty meeting, and the offer was accepted. But that class jealously might not be aroused, Principal Housh specified that each class should be allowed to have a bit of its colors in evidence about the bird.

bit of its colors in evidence about the bird.

Last Saturday a number of the members of the department gathered at the High School and worked for nearly four hours, suspending the big eagle between the two flights of stairs, so that the first thing one saw on entering the building was the great bird, poised in mid air, its extended wings measuring eight feet from tip to tip, and a stretch of four and one-half feet from beak to claw. Streamers of blue and gold fluttered from its beak, and the stand on which it rested was covered with satin of the same bright hues. The pupils of the department collected money to buy American flags and planned next Saturday to drape the Stars and Stripes around the Bird of Freedom.

On entering the building waterday.

of Freedom.

On entering the building yesterday morning, the janitor found that unknown parties had forced an entrance during the night, torn the eagle to pleces and flung the fragments of papier maché down the elevator shaft. The teachers are making every effort to find the rascals who did the thing, and if they can be detected, they will be severely dealt with. There is great indignation among the pupils of the school at the mean-spirited piece of hoodlumism.

THE OTHER ONE.

Prompt Capture of a Second Box-ca

The police have at last succeeded in arresting the companion of Ed Parker, who is alleged to have robbed a Southern Pacific car at Saugus, April 20.

Late Tuesday afterneon the police department received a felephone message from the City Marshal at Ontario, saying that a colored man had been arrested there while attempting to dispose of some melted silverware. He was taken to San Bernardino by a constable, where he was relieved of the buillion and allowed to go.

The police at once telephoned to Detective Bowler of the Southern Pacific telling him what they had learned, and advising him to send a man to San Bernardino to apprehend the man, as he would undoubtedly strike out for the Needles.

Detective Bowler sent an officer after him, but he had evidently left before the officer arrived, as a telegram was received at police headquarters yesterday, saying that the man had been arrested by Deputy Sheriff, Case. The prisoner gave the name of Henry Swift when arrested, but his right name is James Brown, alias Shine. The police have no doubt but he is the man wanted, and say that he is an aliaround crook. It is asserted that Brown is an ex-convict, and that he has served a term at Folsom for mansiaughter. He will be brought to this city today.

Parker had his preliminary examination yesterday, and was bound over for trial in bond of $5000.

WORRELL FOUND GUILTY. le is Charged with Embessling Hi

H. H. Worrell was found guilty of misdemeanor embezzlement by a jury in Justice Owens's court yesterday and will be sentenced at 2 o'clock tomorrow will be sentenced at 2 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Worrell was an agent employed by the American Wringer Company to sell goods on commission. While acting in this capacity it is alleged that he pawned clocks, rugs and other articles, and falled to make returns to his employers. He was arrested and tried on the felonious charge, but the amount involved was not large enough to make the case stick and he was tried yesterday on the lighter charge. His attorney demanded a jury trial. After presenting, the evidence and hearing testimony the jury retired and in ten minutes reached a verdict of guilty.

MILITIAMEN UNDER ARREST. The Young Men Will not Be Severely Dealt With.

Dealt With.

The young men who went to the Orpheum Tuesday evening, instead of attending drill, will not be dealt with severely. Instructions have been issued that the regulation that all the members of a milita company must be present at each drill except in case of illness or other urgent necessity, shall be strictly enforced. The execution of this law has been rather lax, and as the young men who went to the theater are the first victims, they will be let off lightly.

After being arrested, the theater-going militiamen were escorted to the armory. Lieut. Crawford, acting captain of Company A, had finished drilling his company and gone home. The young men were allowed to go home, after being told to appear Friday evening. At that time they will probably be reprimanded and nothing more.

a social meal together, provided by the women of the church, a large number of persons partaking of the good cheer, and listening afterward with the utmost interest to the various reports made by the officers of the church. These reports were of the most gratifying character. The church has largely increased its accommodations during the past year, the grounds being beautified by the efforts of the women, but in spite of the heavy outlay necessitated by the improvements, a balance of $100 was shown, with all the bills for expenses receipted.

Although there have been no "rewival meetings," as such, and no services held for the special purpose of increasing the roll of members, twentyone persons joined the church during the year, being an increase of 400 per cent. The growth in the church has been healthy and the working spirit of the eangregation is up to the safe spirit of the excellent ministry of the Rev. Henry T. Staats. who for eight years has filled its pulpit, and has been its pastor since the church was founded. The officers elected for the ensuing year were: Deacons. Dr. H. M. Field, H. K. W. Bent, M. D. Colorado Street Improvements. Work on the grading of East Colo-rado street, in accordance with the perado street, in accordance with the petition of property-owners and the recent resolutions of the Council, has been begun. Messrs. Howe and Vandevort are removing their trees to make way for the improvement. Beyond the grading of the street to conform with the newly-established grade, and the consequent curbing and guttering required, no other improvement will be carried forward at present, as nothing has been decided upon as to the material to be used in paving. It is said by some of those persons experienced in road-making that should the road be thoroughly wet and rolled, with a steam roller, after the grading and crowning of the street, nothing more in the way of a good driveway would be needed for several years to come.

Superintendent Stilwell of the County Hospital prepared to receive the patient at tal prepared to receive the patient at the pesthouse, but it was later decided not to remove him until Dr. Winchester returns from Sacramento, where he is a convention delegate. It is reported that the disease has already run its course, and the man is almost well. He is located out of town and every precaution will be taken to prevent the spread off the disease, and there is no cause for alarm.

THE FREEHOLDERS.

The freeholders will meet again Friday evening, and the session promises to be lively. The question of electing to be lively. The question of electing councilmen at large will be discussed and acted upon. The intention is to determine the complexion of the new charter at this meeting. This will necessarily precipitate heated discussions upon various subjects of public interest and importance, upon which good men are prone to differ. The serious expression upon the continuance of some of our influential citizens is ominous.

SANTA BARBARA BREVITIES. The steamer Santa Rosa arrived from Cope yesterday and pleaded guilty to robbing McPhail's store, and was given two years at San Quentin. He will go north on Saturday's steamer.

The battleship Oregon will probably be here on Monday next to try her speed in the channel. A forty-mile stretch has been carefully mapped out for her by the government engineers. Councilman A. S. Cooper is engaged today in making a telescope for peering into the ocean, to be used in examining the outlet of the city's sewage system, which is 500 feet from shore. There has been more or less trouble with sand drifting into the pipe, which, it is thought by many, should be extended 500 feet further, when it would rest upon a solid clay bottom.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, Los Angeles, May 6, 1896.

THE GOLD BOOM. There is at present a boom in gold mining all over the world. The consequence is that the production of gold has enormously increased, so much so that at the present rate of progress within a few years the amount of gold that ex-isted in the world before the beginning of this mining boom will have been loubled.

of this mining boom will have been doubled.

Some papers are beginning to speculate in regard to the influence which this great increase in the world's stock of gold may have in the value of the metal and on the financial situation in general. The Times has on several occasions during the past year called attention to the fact that the enormous increase in the supply of gold must necessarily before long have some effect on its relative value to silver, especially as the low price of the white metal has of late discouraged its development, just as it has stimulated the search for gold. As The Times has previously remarked, this is a case in which it may be found that the disease will cure itelf. The low price of silver causes a decrease in production of that metal and an increase in the production of gold, which again increases the value of silver.

If we go on at this rate much longer, and the financial tinkers will leave legislation alone for a few years, it may be that the gold producers will be asking for protection and referring to the silver men, as "bloated monopolitst" be that the gold producers will be ask-ing for protection and referring to the silver men, as "bloated monopolists" and so forth. As in the case of the hu-man body, so in the body politic it often happens that unnatural condi-tions produce their own remedy, if a fair chance if given, and the condi-tions are not complicated by drugs in the one case or crude legislation in the other.

BAD BUSINESS. Referring to the BAD BUSINESS. Referring to the failure of a retail grocery establishment in Los Angeles the Commercial Bulletin recently had the following sensible remarks:

"A recent business failure in this city and what came of it, cannot but cause all thoughtful persons to ask, 'Is it a good way to do business?' The failure was the largest recorded here for some time, and was one of peculiar circumstances, if we are correctly informed, and our information comes from one of the creditors, who is supposed to know. The failure was of a house doing a 'cash business,' or generally understood to The failure was of a house doing a 'cash business,' or generally understood to be doing so. It was probably doing nearly a cash business. A cash business means that a man is taking in dollar for dollar on his goods, with expenses and a profit margin added. If that is not the case, then there was something radically wrong in the way of conducting the business. If the business was done on this proper basis, how did it fail? For a cash store, or one run nearly on a cash basis, to fail there must have been cutting done to a degree utterly unjustifiable, or this business must have been extravagantly conducted in itself, or the habits of the proprietor must have been extravagant, or some one must have stolen. In any of these cases the person conducting the business did not know how or did not attend to it. The failure was a bad one, $2000 involved and only $3000 in assets.

"If the business was done on anything not attend to it. The failure was a bad one, $8000 involved and only $3000 in assets.

"If the business was done on anything near a cash basis where did the money go? Suppose it was a case of very close competition, that the merchant was economical in his personal habits, in his methods of doing business, and that all his employes were honest, which we believe to have been the facts in the case. If, then, these losses were the result of close competition, selling goods below a reasonable price to cover first cost, with cost of handling and a fair profit added, then the proprietor, if he lived off of the business, was living at the expense of his creditors.

"But there is another point of view to take of this matter, that is, the relation it bears to other merchants doing business in competition with the one who failed. Here is one man out of several hundred. The nine hundred and ninetynine try to do business in an absolutely fair way to all concerned, to themselves, to their customers and to their creditors. They intend to make an honest living for themselves and to pay dollar for dollar for all they buy. Now, if a fail-

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

POWER FROM KERN RIVER. As mentioned in a special dispatch from Washington, published in yesterday's Times, Congress has passed a bill granting a right-of-way over forest reservations for wires for the development of electricity by water power. This is a bill which was introduced at the instance of a Los Angeles company that has been formed for the purpose of bringing electric power from Kern River to Los Angeles. The bill as first introduced was so worded that it would have given this company a monopoly of the right-of-way. This was objected to, but it was amended so as to give other companies the same right. The successful utilization of the power of Ningara in New York a distance of four times as great as from Kern River to Los Angeles, shows that this project is entirely feasible and the carrying out of the enterprise will now probably depend only on the raising of a sufficient amount of money to build the line.

INCORPORATIONS. The Eagle

INCORPORATIONS. The Eagle Mountain Gold Mining Company filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The purposes are to own and develop gold, silver, copper and other ores in the State of California, with headquarters in the city of Los Angeles. Duration is to be for fifty years; capital stock, $100,000, divided into shares of $1000 each. Of this capitalization, $51,000 is subscribed by the following persons, named is directors for the first year, all residents of Riverside, Cal.: Henry Coon, $49,000 D. L. Wilbur, $500; W. J. McIntyre, $500; Louise Wilbur, $500; Marguerite McIntyre, $500. Marguerite McIntyre, $500.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW. Trade conditions showed a slight betterment the past week. Both jobbers and retailers, as a rule report a little more activity. City collections have improved. Country collections are still slow. A new jobbing house was added to the ranks as branch of a prominent San Francisco firm.

The curtailment of the fruit crop by frost will insure good prices for the smaller output and in all probability will infuse some life into the dried fruit market.

Grain and Produce.

BY ASSOCIATED PHESS WIRE.

CHICAGO. May 6.—There was only a moderate speculative trade in wheat, the range for the day being narrow at %6%c. Opening trades were a shade above yeaterday's figures, and, after selling up %6%c, dorked back %6%c., advanced %c, changed but little, and closed as stated. The smaller Northwestern receipts and yesterday's cash business evidently imparted some strength to the market at the start, and there was some little outside buying by commission houses. It was clear and decidedly warmer in the Northwest, temperatures running up quite high, and it was feared might create storms in that section tonight and tomorrow and this sided the up-turn to some extent. There were increased offerings after the early up-turn, the favorable weekly weakler crop bulletins and report of the Oreage Judd Farmer having considerable influence. Corn was fairly sleady most of the smalens, and the elses where a curific gain. The early firmness in such a coupled with the light receipts, were responsible for the strength, but any material advance was checked by the fine weather and alch cosh memand. The oats market was a compared with those current yeaterday.

Matches and Biscuits.

CHICAGO, May 8.—There was a violent shaking up of "room-traders" and "small try" at the Stock Exchange today. A big break occurred in Diamond Match and New York Biscuit stocks and for a time things had a riotous appearance. Diamond Match started at 240 for the account and sold down to 224, while the regular went down to 228. Later it recovered to 256%. Early resterday New York Biscuit was at 108. It closed at 10%, and to-day started in at 101%. During the flurry it sold off to 98 and then recovered to 101.

many property-weners in the eastern portion of this county, and which is not yet out of the county court:

"The suit of Bathgate et al. vs. the Irvine Company over the waters of the Santiago Creek was a drawn battle according to Judge Towner's decision. Neither side is entitled to all the water and each side is entitled to some, but how much he could not tell. It seems that in this case possession was not nine points out of ten in the law, and that prior appropriation cut no figure. There is something wrong somewhere that will permit a couple of hundred families to invest their all and build up homes on twenty-five years use of the water without protest, and then will take it away from them to enrich a land monopolist. But, looking at the question from the riparian-rights side, we do not see how water can be taken out of the basin of Santiago Creek to irrigate the plains of the San Joaquin, which drain into the Santa Ana River or Newport Bay. If the original application of riparian rights required the return of the water to the stream, whence it was taken, undiminished except for domestic purposes, a fair application of the principle to irrigation would con-It was taken, undiminished except for domestic purposes, a fair application of the principle to irrigation would con-fine the water to lands that drain into the stream. SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

Still Talking About the Council and

SAN DIEGO, May 6.—(Regular Correspondence,) The chief subject of conversation in this city and county is the letter of E. S. Babcook, president of the Southern California Mountain Water Company, declining to enter into the $1,500,000 water-plant contract favored by the Council. The reasons for this withdrawal are wondered at. The Council was supposed to be entirely Council was supposed to be entirely subservient to the company's desires. The claim of the company that it was ignorant of the company that it was ignorant of the conditions of the contract published, is regarded as an entirely lame excuse. Some people hold the opinion that Mr. Spreckels, the employer of Babcock, told his agent to stop proceedings; that when the San Francisco boss found that his agent was without sufficient influence to even carry a county convention at a time when Spreckels much desired political assistance, he became more thoroughly convinced of the agent's political impotency. Other reasons for the withdrawal suggested to the minds of the people are, that in case of the sustaining of the Wright agt the company would not own a water supply; that voters would not vote the $1,500,000 of water bonds by the necessary two-thirds majority vote. The Council stands in a ridiculous position. It is generally believed to have followed the company's wishes in making a contract desired by that concern as implicitly as if it had been employed by the alleged judgment-proof corporation to do its bidding. And now the company tries to make the public believe that the Council was naughty and did not do what it agreed to do. That the company announces its temporary withdrawal from the water question causes many citizens relief, according to their public expressions. AVALON (Catalina Island.) May 6.—
(Regular Correspondence.) The most exacting sportsman could not find fault with the fishing or hunting which Catalina has afforded during the past few days. Yesterday Judge Banning, accompanied by Messrs. Hardinger of Denver, Cottman and Dr. Fortiug. of Chino, and Fred Wilding of the Metropole, went goat hunting, Whenever Judge Banning dons his hunting garb the goats must take to the tail timber or else be brought down. The party boarded the La Paloma at Avalon and coasted down the island, landing at Goat Harbor, where they struck a band of forty goats. Judge Banning's sure alm brought down a prize—the finest goat shot in two years, the horns measuring fully two feet each. The head has been sent to Los Angeles to be mounted. Mr. Hardinger also brought back a fine head.

Over one thousand pounds of sea bass alone has rewarded the fishermen within the past three days. The largest of these, a sixty-five pounder, was taken by E. Barnett, proprietor of Antier's Hotel, Colorado Springs. E. J. Parker of Los Angeles is another lucky fisherman, having taken three sea bass, weighing respectively sixty-two and fifty pounds. Yellow-tails are also plentiful, the largest yet faken weighing thirty-three pounds. In a single day eighteen sea bass were taken from Avalon Bay, this large school having presumably followed the swarm of sardines which preceded it into the bay.

He is charmed with Catalina and unhesitatingly promounces it an ideal health resort. Correspondence.) The discovery of the vertebrae of a huge elephant or mastodon in the yard of the Nevada State Prison near Carson City, as told in a special dispatch printed in today's Times, awakens considerable interest in the other finds that have from time to time been made there. Justice T. H. Wells of this city was private secretary for several years under Govs. Blaisdel and Stevenson of Nevada, respectively, and as such he frequently had occasion to visit the State Prison. He saw a great many curious things unearthed near the spot where the bones of the large animal are reported to have been found. The prison is one and one-half miles from Carson, and is on what appears to be the shore of an ancient lake, the bed of which is now dry. The place is at an altitude of about 5000 feet.

As one ascends from the bed of the lake the layer of sandstone formation, as shown by the work at the prison quarry, becomes thicker and thicker. The standstone is of a grayish-brown color. Under it and extending at a slight upward slope from the lake bed is a layer of what seems to be sedimentary formation of a gray color, but of a different shade from that of the sandstone. The tracks imbedded in this sub-stratum, which are thought to be of human origin, are singular in form. The fact that they are about eighteen inches in length has aroused skepticism as to their being human footprints, but it is contended that when they were made was soft so that at each step the foot would displace the material not only where it rested, but also in front and behind.

Justice Wells says that he has seen numerous bones that were taken from the place. One of these was a rib about six feet in length. It was, of course, flat, being about eight inches in width and perhaps four inches thick. Another of the bones discovered is by some people claimed to be the large bone of a human leg, but if it is, the human being whose it was must have been about twenty feet in height.

NEW LIBRARY BOARD.

The outgoing library board had its final meeting Tuesday evening. Retiring President H. A. Winslow made an appropriate address, comparing the present condition five years ago, touching on the work accomplished, and acknowledging hearty support from the Board of City Trustees. A vote of thanks was tendered President Winslow and Secretary Weyse, after which the board adjourned sine die.

The new board organised, its members being Rev. William Stevenson, T. H. Wells, Fred H. Taft, Dr. P. S. Lindsey and J. Walter Gray. For president T. H. Wells was chosen, and for secretary, J. Walter Gray. A resolution was unanimously adopted, declaring it to be the sense of the board that Miss Biffe Mosse be retained as libra-

A canvasser for a Chicago portrait firm, who had started to do business in this city Tuesday, informed City Attorney Tanner that he would not pay a city license, insisting that it was in conflict with the interstate commerce law to impose such a license on his business. The man was promptly informed that if he did not pay he would be prosecuted at once, if he commenced business. He at first agreed to make a test case of it, but when he found the city was not to be bluffed, and that a warrant had been prepared for his arrest, he relented and paid the license.

In youth, men recklessly acquire habits, which for a time they can easily manage. But as time goes on the struggie becomes one of life and death, and in the case of the tobacco vice, the fight is almost hopeless. He who allows the time to go by when he can still say "I'll quit," and do it, is in a serious position. Nerves paralyzed with constant irritation brain deadened with ever destroyed, leave wer destroyed, leave brain deadened with everlasting tobacco torpor; sexual power destroyed, leave man but an emasculated wreck who knows not what life is.

When tobacco has a hold on a man he has but one hope—No-To-Bac—which has been the salvation of over 300,000 such cases, and is curing thousands every day. If the tobacco victims will but know what it is to be once more firm of step, bright of eye, full of energy, magnetism and vital force, No-To-Bac will eradicate the tobacco habit from the vices of mankind. Hear what Col. McClary has to say of his glorious victory, caused by No-To-Bac's timely appearance on the battlefield:
BONHAM (Tex.,) Aug. 1, 1895.
Gentlemen: Permit an old broken-down Confederate to give his experience in the use of No-To-Bac. June 1 last 1 bought one box of it from John Peeler, druggist, to try as an experiment. I quit the use of tobacco "instanter." I took the box of tablets in ten days, taking eight per day. Now for the result. For two months (June and July) I have had little desire for tobacco. I now loathe and detest and hate it! I am 65 years of age—smoked and chewed at the same time regulary tobacco-chewer for fifty years.

SUSPECTED OF BURGLARY.

Prisoner Who Threw Away Some

Jewelry.

Officer Henderson is receiving congratulations from his brother officers over a clever arrest he made Tuesday night, and as a result Thomas Josephs is locked up at the City Jall on suspicion of committing burglary.

On the afternoon of April 2, the residence of R. S. Bodman at No. 1023 Overton street was entered by a burglar.

on street was entered by a burgla and a quantity of jewelry was stolen The stolen property consisted of a wo man's gold hunting-case watch, fiv man's gold nunting-case watch, five rings, a pair of earrings and a breast-pin. No clew was obtained to the rob-ber, and, although a description of the missing property was furnished the po-lice, they were unable to recover any of it.

lice, they were unable to recover any of it.

About 8 o'clock Tuesday evening Officer Henderson was patrolling his beat on First street, and when near the corner of Main, saw a man attempting to dispose of some rings. He approached the man and placed him under arrest. The prisoner made some resistance, and was handcuffed, but before this was done he attempted to throw away some jewelry. The officer prevented this, and after handcuffing him searched him and found a quantity of jewelry was identified as that stolen from the Bodman residence, and there is little doubt but that Josephs is guilty of the burglary.

Since the commission of the crime he has been in the City Jail twice for drunkenness. Josephs secreted a jewel case under the sill of a window in a house on Alameda street, opposite the Union Ice Company, and it was found by the detectives.

"I knew nothing of the article until my attention was called to it this even-ing. I am more than surprised and mortified at its contents. It is a fake mortified at its contents. It is a fake in every word and in every detail! It is infamous and holds up to ridicule the religion and the family of the dead, and could only have originated in the brain of a low-bred, contemptible dog. It is a reflection upon everything held sacred by man or woman. "José Sennena was a warm personal friend of mine, and my client for many years. A more generous, chivalrous, monorable gentleman never lived. Any reflection upon myself I care nothing about, but any attempt to burlesque the sorrow or religious ceremonies of my friends, I resent, and deplore that it found a place in the columns of any decent newspaper."
